

Miss Hollins Only New Yorker Left to Attempt Overthrow of British Golf Invaders

VICTORY FOR BRITISH VISITORS NOW LIKELY

Misses Ravenscroft, Harrison and Dodd Easy Winners at Wilmington.

CHICAGO OUT OF TOURNEY

Philadelphia and Boston Have Two Each and New York One on Winning List.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 15.—One more day of well won triumph was added to the brilliant record being made by Miss Muriel Dodd and Miss Gladys Ravenscroft in their attempt to win the women's golf championship of the United States when the two English girls came through their second round matches without the slightest difficulty on the Wilmington Country Club course this morning.

They played the kind of golf that has brought to each of them a British championship and their opponents found themselves fighting against a game that could not be conquered. Just to round out the day of British victory Miss Mabel Harrison won her match against Miss Caroline Painter, the Chicago girl who beat the three times champion, Miss Margaret Curtis in the first round yesterday.

The Canadian wing of the invading forces was wiped out, however, for Miss Marion Hollins, holder of the metropolitan title, won from Miss Florence Harvey of Hamilton, and Miss Violet Pooley from Ladd of British Columbia, was little Miss Dodd's victim in the day's struggle.

Returned to eight, the championship division now counts the two English girls, Miss Harrison Curtis and Miss Fanny Osgood of Boston, Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck and Mrs. E. H. Pitter of Philadelphia, Miss Harrison of Ireland and Miss Hollins of New York.

Both Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft will have American opponents to-morrow, as the former plays Mrs. Vanderbeck while the latter will have Miss Osgood as her opponent. These two matches are in the lower bracket, where the greatest strength seems to lie, and in the upper half Miss Hollins will fight it out with Mrs. Pitter, while Miss Harrison is playing Miss Curtis.

A third variety of weather in as many days was provided for the championship play this morning. The wind of the last two days was gone and though it was a little cooler, the sun shone brightly and the sky was overcast, golfer and spectator alike, but especially the former, rejoiced at the absence of the gale of wind that had been carrying shots hither and thither, and making some of the home strokes struggle against the elements with no time to think of golf.

There was a gallery of visible size to-day and it picked out the match between Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft as the one worth watching. The British champion began beautifully with a drive and an iron shot that took her to within six feet of the pin on the first hole. It was a surprising feat for a girl who had never won a putt for a 3 and Miss Pooley halved the hole by getting down a twelve footer. They both played the second and third holes in a similar manner, but Miss Dodd was too far away and missed the hole, and Miss Ravenscroft was too close and missed the hole, and the match was tied at 2 and 2.

Just midday was Miss Ravenscroft's description of the golf she played against Miss Dodd. The English girl, however, the former British champion was never behind and was out in 44, with a lead of five holes to her credit, a showing which made her estimate of her own modesty. Miss Ravenscroft did not win the eighth going out, and another, the eleventh coming in, but that was the extent of her victories and she was beaten by 4 up and 3 to play.

Because of their international aspect the matches between Miss Hollins and Miss Harvey, and that with Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, as opponents were followed with interest. The metropolitan champion had the closest kind of a tussle with Miss Harvey, though the keenness of the competition did not seem to produce specially good golf. The match was over more than one hole apart at any stage of the round, and at the turn were all square, Miss Hollins having gone out in 49, while Miss Harvey's total was a stroke less.

The even play continued and at the next hole Miss Hollins was again in the lead, and when Miss Hollins won the seventeenth she faced the home hole dormie 2 up and needed only a half to win. This hole was halved in 5, and the New York girl's name went up on the list of winners and the victor in the only match of the day that went the full round.

It was not quite so even a match, though almost as long a one, between Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, for the Irish title holder began as though she intended to win a runaway victory. At the sixth hole she was 3 up, but Miss Painter, having suddenly won four of the next five holes and went into the lead. By a rally which won for her the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth, and by halving the sixteenth, Miss Harrison established herself in the comfortable position of dormie two up. She ended the match in spectacular fashion. By jumping a stroke on the next green she gained her halve and won by 2 up to 1 to play.

One encouraging feature of the day from the American standpoint was the good golf played by Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck against Mrs. S. C. O'Brien of Chicago. The Philadelphia was out in 41 and was 7 up on her opponent at that point. Coming in she did not quite so well and Mrs. O'Brien out down the lead and Mrs. Vanderbeck winning by 4 up and 3 to play. If the golf played by Mrs. Vanderbeck was something more than a dash of good form she may make things interesting for Miss Dodd to-morrow.

Just as she surprised every one yesterday by defeating Miss Kate Harley, Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield created more of the same feeling to-day, when she put up a strong fight against Miss Harrison Curtis. The former champion was carried off all of the way to the seventeenth green, where she won by 3 up and 1 to play.

Another contest that went seventeen holes was that between Miss Fanny Osgood and the Western champion, Miss Myra Helmer of Middletown. The Chicago girl played like a winner for a while and was 3 up at the fifth. Then Miss Osgood, who is essentially a steady player, began to creep up and soon was on even terms. She finally won by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mrs. Pitter, though she lost the first hole to Miss Arthur, of New York, quickly won Mr. Back and then lost to Miss Pitter, and the match ended four holes away from home with the Philadelphia 5 up.

The eight survivors begin the third round at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, with the chances of a British victory looking up larger than ever.

'Dive, You Rascals, Under That Rope!'

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 15.—The Dartmouth varsity buried the 1917 team under six touchdowns and a goal from field to-day, totaling 44 points. It is evident that the Dartmouth eleven is scared to death of Williams and its fright is resulting in terrific play. Coach Cavanaugh's pet torture for line-men made its first appearance of the year to-day when a rope was stretched across the field at the height of one yard and the luckless forwards were sent diving under it until dusk had fallen and the rope was indistinguishable, tossing several men.

MISS ROBBINS WINS OUT.

Conquers Miss Robinson in Hard Three Set Match.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 15.—The tennis tournament advanced to-day through the second round of men's singles and women's doubles and the first round of women's singles. Miss J. Robbins of New York, a promising young player, again showed her strength by defeating Miss Constance Robinson of New York in a match that went three hard sets, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3. W. P. Johnson won from H. P. Homans of New York, 6-2, 6-3.

H. Y. Lake, New York, defeated Louis H. Coffin, Jr., New York, 6-3, 8-6; P. J. Sullivan, Concord, N. H., 6-4; Dudley Rogers, Baltimore, 6-3, 6-4; Edmund A. Padden, New York, 6-3, 6-4; H. P. Hadden, Jr., New York, 6-3, 6-4. In the women's singles Miss Edith Rotten, Boston, defeated Miss Gladys Ingalls, Washington, 6-0, 6-1; Mrs. Rawson Wood, New York, defeated Miss Marie Merrill, Duluth, 6-1, 6-2; Miss Marian Leutze, Washington, defeated Miss C. J. Russell, New York, 6-3, 6-2.

In the women's doubles, first round, Miss Ingham and Miss Leutze defeated Miss Janet Bowers, New York, and Miss Alice Hunt, New York, 6-3, 6-2; Miss Mary O'Connell, New York, and Miss J. Robbins defeated Miss Marie Robinson and Miss Helen Alexander, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Robinson and Miss Katherine Baldwin, New York, defeated Mrs. E. J. Sullivan, New York, and Mrs. E. J. Sullivan, New York, 6-3, 6-2; Miss Mary O'Connell and Miss J. Robbins defeated Miss Marie Robinson and Miss Helen Alexander, 6-0, 6-2.

In the women's doubles, first round, Miss Ingham and Miss Leutze defeated Miss Janet Bowers, New York, and Miss Alice Hunt, New York, 6-3, 6-2; Miss Mary O'Connell, New York, and Miss J. Robbins defeated Miss Marie Robinson and Miss Helen Alexander, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Robinson and Miss Katherine Baldwin, New York, defeated Mrs. E. J. Sullivan, New York, and Mrs. E. J. Sullivan, New York, 6-3, 6-2; Miss Mary O'Connell and Miss J. Robbins defeated Miss Marie Robinson and Miss Helen Alexander, 6-0, 6-2.

Both Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft will have American opponents to-morrow, as the former plays Mrs. Vanderbeck while the latter will have Miss Osgood as her opponent. These two matches are in the lower bracket, where the greatest strength seems to lie, and in the upper half Miss Hollins will fight it out with Mrs. Pitter, while Miss Harrison is playing Miss Curtis.

A third variety of weather in as many days was provided for the championship play this morning. The wind of the last two days was gone and though it was a little cooler, the sun shone brightly and the sky was overcast, golfer and spectator alike, but especially the former, rejoiced at the absence of the gale of wind that had been carrying shots hither and thither, and making some of the home strokes struggle against the elements with no time to think of golf.

There was a gallery of visible size to-day and it picked out the match between Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft as the one worth watching. The British champion began beautifully with a drive and an iron shot that took her to within six feet of the pin on the first hole. It was a surprising feat for a girl who had never won a putt for a 3 and Miss Pooley halved the hole by getting down a twelve footer. They both played the second and third holes in a similar manner, but Miss Dodd was too far away and missed the hole, and Miss Ravenscroft was too close and missed the hole, and the match was tied at 2 and 2.

Just midday was Miss Ravenscroft's description of the golf she played against Miss Dodd. The English girl, however, the former British champion was never behind and was out in 44, with a lead of five holes to her credit, a showing which made her estimate of her own modesty. Miss Ravenscroft did not win the eighth going out, and another, the eleventh coming in, but that was the extent of her victories and she was beaten by 4 up and 3 to play.

Because of their international aspect the matches between Miss Hollins and Miss Harvey, and that with Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, as opponents were followed with interest. The metropolitan champion had the closest kind of a tussle with Miss Harvey, though the keenness of the competition did not seem to produce specially good golf. The match was over more than one hole apart at any stage of the round, and at the turn were all square, Miss Hollins having gone out in 49, while Miss Harvey's total was a stroke less.

The even play continued and at the next hole Miss Hollins was again in the lead, and when Miss Hollins won the seventeenth she faced the home hole dormie 2 up and needed only a half to win. This hole was halved in 5, and the New York girl's name went up on the list of winners and the victor in the only match of the day that went the full round.

It was not quite so even a match, though almost as long a one, between Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, for the Irish title holder began as though she intended to win a runaway victory. At the sixth hole she was 3 up, but Miss Painter, having suddenly won four of the next five holes and went into the lead. By a rally which won for her the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth, and by halving the sixteenth, Miss Harrison established herself in the comfortable position of dormie two up. She ended the match in spectacular fashion. By jumping a stroke on the next green she gained her halve and won by 2 up to 1 to play.

One encouraging feature of the day from the American standpoint was the good golf played by Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck against Mrs. S. C. O'Brien of Chicago. The Philadelphia was out in 41 and was 7 up on her opponent at that point. Coming in she did not quite so well and Mrs. O'Brien out down the lead and Mrs. Vanderbeck winning by 4 up and 3 to play. If the golf played by Mrs. Vanderbeck was something more than a dash of good form she may make things interesting for Miss Dodd to-morrow.

Just as she surprised every one yesterday by defeating Miss Kate Harley, Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield created more of the same feeling to-day, when she put up a strong fight against Miss Harrison Curtis. The former champion was carried off all of the way to the seventeenth green, where she won by 3 up and 1 to play.

Another contest that went seventeen holes was that between Miss Fanny Osgood and the Western champion, Miss Myra Helmer of Middletown. The Chicago girl played like a winner for a while and was 3 up at the fifth. Then Miss Osgood, who is essentially a steady player, began to creep up and soon was on even terms. She finally won by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mrs. Pitter, though she lost the first hole to Miss Arthur, of New York, quickly won Mr. Back and then lost to Miss Pitter, and the match ended four holes away from home with the Philadelphia 5 up.

The eight survivors begin the third round at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, with the chances of a British victory looking up larger than ever.

PENN VARSITY SHOWS NEW FIGHTING SPIRIT

Scrubs Get 26 to 0 Thrashing for Their Effrontery of Previous Day.

MINDS LOOMS UP AS STAR

Dashes 40 Yards to One Score and Makes Pass That Brings Another.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Because of the defeat of the Pennsylvania varsity at the hands of the scrubs yesterday Coach Brooks arranged a regular four period game to-day which was won by the varsity by a score of 26 to 0. Chester Minds was the big star of the afternoon, being responsible for two touchdowns. One was through a 79 yard run from straight plunge and he threw a forward pass to McCall for the other one. Marshall and Carter showed that previous scoring by the scrubs was not by accident by making a drop kick and a goal from placement respectively. Marshall also kicked two goals from touchdowns.

Watching the varsity play to-day and yesterday one would think that it was a totally different team playing to-day. It recovered its old snap and dash and conclusively proved itself master of the scrubs in every way. Besides this there was not a single fumble, and the line proved invincible to the rushes of the scrubs. The tackling also showed great improvement and was in fact the best seen for the past week.

Two regulars were not in the lineup at all and two more were in for only a few minutes. Avery and Young did not go in. Avery because his shoulder is still weak from the sprain he received two weeks ago and Young because of the kick he received in the face yesterday. Journey again hurt his shoulder and Russell appeared a trifle late.

Both Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft will have American opponents to-morrow, as the former plays Mrs. Vanderbeck while the latter will have Miss Osgood as her opponent. These two matches are in the lower bracket, where the greatest strength seems to lie, and in the upper half Miss Hollins will fight it out with Mrs. Pitter, while Miss Harrison is playing Miss Curtis.

A third variety of weather in as many days was provided for the championship play this morning. The wind of the last two days was gone and though it was a little cooler, the sun shone brightly and the sky was overcast, golfer and spectator alike, but especially the former, rejoiced at the absence of the gale of wind that had been carrying shots hither and thither, and making some of the home strokes struggle against the elements with no time to think of golf.

There was a gallery of visible size to-day and it picked out the match between Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft as the one worth watching. The British champion began beautifully with a drive and an iron shot that took her to within six feet of the pin on the first hole. It was a surprising feat for a girl who had never won a putt for a 3 and Miss Pooley halved the hole by getting down a twelve footer. They both played the second and third holes in a similar manner, but Miss Dodd was too far away and missed the hole, and Miss Ravenscroft was too close and missed the hole, and the match was tied at 2 and 2.

Just midday was Miss Ravenscroft's description of the golf she played against Miss Dodd. The English girl, however, the former British champion was never behind and was out in 44, with a lead of five holes to her credit, a showing which made her estimate of her own modesty. Miss Ravenscroft did not win the eighth going out, and another, the eleventh coming in, but that was the extent of her victories and she was beaten by 4 up and 3 to play.

Because of their international aspect the matches between Miss Hollins and Miss Harvey, and that with Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, as opponents were followed with interest. The metropolitan champion had the closest kind of a tussle with Miss Harvey, though the keenness of the competition did not seem to produce specially good golf. The match was over more than one hole apart at any stage of the round, and at the turn were all square, Miss Hollins having gone out in 49, while Miss Harvey's total was a stroke less.

The even play continued and at the next hole Miss Hollins was again in the lead, and when Miss Hollins won the seventeenth she faced the home hole dormie 2 up and needed only a half to win. This hole was halved in 5, and the New York girl's name went up on the list of winners and the victor in the only match of the day that went the full round.

It was not quite so even a match, though almost as long a one, between Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, for the Irish title holder began as though she intended to win a runaway victory. At the sixth hole she was 3 up, but Miss Painter, having suddenly won four of the next five holes and went into the lead. By a rally which won for her the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth, and by halving the sixteenth, Miss Harrison established herself in the comfortable position of dormie two up. She ended the match in spectacular fashion. By jumping a stroke on the next green she gained her halve and won by 2 up to 1 to play.

One encouraging feature of the day from the American standpoint was the good golf played by Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck against Mrs. S. C. O'Brien of Chicago. The Philadelphia was out in 41 and was 7 up on her opponent at that point. Coming in she did not quite so well and Mrs. O'Brien out down the lead and Mrs. Vanderbeck winning by 4 up and 3 to play. If the golf played by Mrs. Vanderbeck was something more than a dash of good form she may make things interesting for Miss Dodd to-morrow.

Just as she surprised every one yesterday by defeating Miss Kate Harley, Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield created more of the same feeling to-day, when she put up a strong fight against Miss Harrison Curtis. The former champion was carried off all of the way to the seventeenth green, where she won by 3 up and 1 to play.

Another contest that went seventeen holes was that between Miss Fanny Osgood and the Western champion, Miss Myra Helmer of Middletown. The Chicago girl played like a winner for a while and was 3 up at the fifth. Then Miss Osgood, who is essentially a steady player, began to creep up and soon was on even terms. She finally won by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mrs. Pitter, though she lost the first hole to Miss Arthur, of New York, quickly won Mr. Back and then lost to Miss Pitter, and the match ended four holes away from home with the Philadelphia 5 up.

The eight survivors begin the third round at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, with the chances of a British victory looking up larger than ever.

Cripples Will Play for Sake of Rivals

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 15.—Swarthmore College acted in a very sportsmanlike manner to-day. First it cancelled its game with Lafayette scheduled for Saturday next on account of the fact that its team has been disintegrated by the effects of the vaccination. Later, when it learned how embarrassing the cancellation was to Lafayette, Swarthmore decided to take the game on at all hazards, Lafayette found it impossible to fill the date.

STICK TO TRACK EVENTS

Vanderbilt and Grand Prize Will Go Unrun This Year, It Appears.

Dr. W. A. Herring, president of the San Antonio Automobile Club, sailed yesterday for home, leaving behind him the declaration that San Antonio had given up the plan of trying to run the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races there next month. It was not for lack of encouragement that the Texans abandoned the scheme, but simply because they decided time was lacking to do the thing on the scale it would have to attain. A very sensible conclusion to, in view of what happened on Milwaukee's makeshift course. The Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races will probably go unrun in 1913.

Dr. Herring came here about three weeks ago looking up entries for a track race meet to be run October 30. While he was here the news that Swarthmore had decided to call off the two big road races. It was suggested to Dr. Herring that San Antonio might well substitute the road contests for the track meet.

The sum of $10,000 had been raised for the track meet and it was decided that $25,000 would do for the bigger attraction. A course that could be made ready without too much work was mapped out. Dr. Herring saw W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., president of the Motor Cops Holding Company, who appeared to favor the San Antonio plan and asked Dr. Herring to submit his plan in writing.

Then the hotel proprietors, business men and automobile club members and others held their meeting in San Antonio and decided there was not enough time to put through the road races. So the track meet will be as much as the Texans will attempt this time, although next year they may be after the fixture for keeps.

As it is, Dr. Herring has the entries of De Palma, Wisheart and the Mason and Case teams for his track meet and expects to make a big thing of it.

The Brooklyn automobile dealers had a meeting yesterday to consider the proposition of holding another show. This was their second effort to this end, an earlier meeting going over so as to get a bigger attendance. The meeting yesterday also had to be put over, after some discussion, until more dealers could be got to attend.

Judged from the lack of interest the dealers had in the show, the dealers want a show, answers itself.

George H. Duck has taken charge of the track business of the Automobile Club of the local branch. Duck is Matheson branch manager and then was superintendent of service for the club. He is a veteran hand in the commercial vehicle line and is expected to do well with the Automobile Club.

When the Ford Motor Company closed its business for the year on September 30 approximately $25,000 Model T Fords were in the throes of the world. In the year which just closed the company built well up toward the 200,000 mark, which was a record for the company.

Both Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft will have American opponents to-morrow, as the former plays Mrs. Vanderbeck while the latter will have Miss Osgood as her opponent. These two matches are in the lower bracket, where the greatest strength seems to lie, and in the upper half Miss Hollins will fight it out with Mrs. Pitter, while Miss Harrison is playing Miss Curtis.

A third variety of weather in as many days was provided for the championship play this morning. The wind of the last two days was gone and though it was a little cooler, the sun shone brightly and the sky was overcast, golfer and spectator alike, but especially the former, rejoiced at the absence of the gale of wind that had been carrying shots hither and thither, and making some of the home strokes struggle against the elements with no time to think of golf.

There was a gallery of visible size to-day and it picked out the match between Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft as the one worth watching. The British champion began beautifully with a drive and an iron shot that took her to within six feet of the pin on the first hole. It was a surprising feat for a girl who had never won a putt for a 3 and Miss Pooley halved the hole by getting down a twelve footer. They both played the second and third holes in a similar manner, but Miss Dodd was too far away and missed the hole, and Miss Ravenscroft was too close and missed the hole, and the match was tied at 2 and 2.

Just midday was Miss Ravenscroft's description of the golf she played against Miss Dodd. The English girl, however, the former British champion was never behind and was out in 44, with a lead of five holes to her credit, a showing which made her estimate of her own modesty. Miss Ravenscroft did not win the eighth going out, and another, the eleventh coming in, but that was the extent of her victories and she was beaten by 4 up and 3 to play.

Because of their international aspect the matches between Miss Hollins and Miss Harvey, and that with Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, as opponents were followed with interest. The metropolitan champion had the closest kind of a tussle with Miss Harvey, though the keenness of the competition did not seem to produce specially good golf. The match was over more than one hole apart at any stage of the round, and at the turn were all square, Miss Hollins having gone out in 49, while Miss Harvey's total was a stroke less.

The even play continued and at the next hole Miss Hollins was again in the lead, and when Miss Hollins won the seventeenth she faced the home hole dormie 2 up and needed only a half to win. This hole was halved in 5, and the New York girl's name went up on the list of winners and the victor in the only match of the day that went the full round.

It was not quite so even a match, though almost as long a one, between Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, for the Irish title holder began as though she intended to win a runaway victory. At the sixth hole she was 3 up, but Miss Painter, having suddenly won four of the next five holes and went into the lead. By a rally which won for her the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth, and by halving the sixteenth, Miss Harrison established herself in the comfortable position of dormie two up. She ended the match in spectacular fashion. By jumping a stroke on the next green she gained her halve and won by 2 up to 1 to play.

One encouraging feature of the day from the American standpoint was the good golf played by Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck against Mrs. S. C. O'Brien of Chicago. The Philadelphia was out in 41 and was 7 up on her opponent at that point. Coming in she did not quite so well and Mrs. O'Brien out down the lead and Mrs. Vanderbeck winning by 4 up and 3 to play. If the golf played by Mrs. Vanderbeck was something more than a dash of good form she may make things interesting for Miss Dodd to-morrow.

Just as she surprised every one yesterday by defeating Miss Kate Harley, Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield created more of the same feeling to-day, when she put up a strong fight against Miss Harrison Curtis. The former champion was carried off all of the way to the seventeenth green, where she won by 3 up and 1 to play.

Another contest that went seventeen holes was that between Miss Fanny Osgood and the Western champion, Miss Myra Helmer of Middletown. The Chicago girl played like a winner for a while and was 3 up at the fifth. Then Miss Osgood, who is essentially a steady player, began to creep up and soon was on even terms. She finally won by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mrs. Pitter, though she lost the first hole to Miss Arthur, of New York, quickly won Mr. Back and then lost to Miss Pitter, and the match ended four holes away from home with the Philadelphia 5 up.

The eight survivors begin the third round at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, with the chances of a British victory looking up larger than ever.

SAN ANTONIO GIVES UP ROAD RACE IDEA

Texans Decide Time Is Too Short to Prepare for Auto Classics.

STICK TO TRACK EVENTS

Vanderbilt and Grand Prize Will Go Unrun This Year, It Appears.

Dr. W. A. Herring, president of the San Antonio Automobile Club, sailed yesterday for home, leaving behind him the declaration that San Antonio had given up the plan of trying to run the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races there next month. It was not for lack of encouragement that the Texans abandoned the scheme, but simply because they decided time was lacking to do the thing on the scale it would have to attain. A very sensible conclusion to, in view of what happened on Milwaukee's makeshift course. The Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races will probably go unrun in 1913.

Dr. Herring came here about three weeks ago looking up entries for a track race meet to be run October 30. While he was here the news that Swarthmore had decided to call off the two big road races. It was suggested to Dr. Herring that San Antonio might well substitute the road contests for the track meet.

The sum of $10,000 had been raised for the track meet and it was decided that $25,000 would do for the bigger attraction. A course that could be made ready without too much work was mapped out. Dr. Herring saw W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., president of the Motor Cops Holding Company, who appeared to favor the San Antonio plan and asked Dr. Herring to submit his plan in writing.

Then the hotel proprietors, business men and automobile club members and others held their meeting in San Antonio and decided there was not enough time to put through the road races. So the track meet will be as much as the Texans will attempt this time, although next year they may be after the fixture for keeps.

As it is, Dr. Herring has the entries of De Palma, Wisheart and the Mason and Case teams for his track meet and expects to make a big thing of it.

The Brooklyn automobile dealers had a meeting yesterday to consider the proposition of holding another show. This was their second effort to this end, an earlier meeting going over so as to get a bigger attendance. The meeting yesterday also had to be put over, after some discussion, until more dealers could be got to attend.

Judged from the lack of interest the dealers had in the show, the dealers want a show, answers itself.

George H. Duck has taken charge of the track business of the Automobile Club of the local branch. Duck is Matheson branch manager and then was superintendent of service for the club. He is a veteran hand in the commercial vehicle line and is expected to do well with the Automobile Club.

When the Ford Motor Company closed its business for the year on September 30 approximately $25,000 Model T Fords were in the throes of the world. In the year which just closed the company built well up toward the 200,000 mark, which was a record for the company.

Both Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft will have American opponents to-morrow, as the former plays Mrs. Vanderbeck while the latter will have Miss Osgood as her opponent. These two matches are in the lower bracket, where the greatest strength seems to lie, and in the upper half Miss Hollins will fight it out with Mrs. Pitter, while Miss Harrison is playing Miss Curtis.

A third variety of weather in as many days was provided for the championship play this morning. The wind of the last two days was gone and though it was a little cooler, the sun shone brightly and the sky was overcast, golfer and spectator alike, but especially the former, rejoiced at the absence of the gale of wind that had been carrying shots hither and thither, and making some of the home strokes struggle against the elements with no time to think of golf.

There was a gallery of visible size to-day and it picked out the match between Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft as the one worth watching. The British champion began beautifully with a drive and an iron shot that took her to within six feet of the pin on the first hole. It was a surprising feat for a girl who had never won a putt for a 3 and Miss Pooley halved the hole by getting down a twelve footer. They both played the second and third holes in a similar manner, but Miss Dodd was too far away and missed the hole, and Miss Ravenscroft was too close and missed the hole, and the match was tied at 2 and 2.

Just midday was Miss Ravenscroft's description of the golf she played against Miss Dodd. The English girl, however, the former British champion was never behind and was out in 44, with a lead of five holes to her credit, a showing which made her estimate of her own modesty. Miss Ravenscroft did not win the eighth going out, and another, the eleventh coming in, but that was the extent of her victories and she was beaten by 4 up and 3 to play.

Because of their international aspect the matches between Miss Hollins and Miss Harvey, and that with Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, as opponents were followed with interest. The metropolitan champion had the closest kind of a tussle with Miss Harvey, though the keenness of the competition did not seem to produce specially good golf. The match was over more than one hole apart at any stage of the round, and at the turn were all square, Miss Hollins having gone out in 49, while Miss Harvey's total was a stroke less.

The even play continued and at the next hole Miss Hollins was again in the lead, and when Miss Hollins won the seventeenth she faced the home hole dormie 2 up and needed only a half to win. This hole was halved in 5, and the New York girl's name went up on the list of winners and the victor in the only match of the day that went the full round.

It was not quite so even a match, though almost as long a one, between Miss Harrison and Miss Painter, for the Irish title holder began as though she intended to win a runaway victory. At the sixth hole she was 3 up, but Miss Painter, having suddenly won four of the next five holes and went into the lead. By a rally which won for her the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth, and by halving the sixteenth, Miss Harrison established herself in the comfortable position of dormie two up. She ended the match in spectacular fashion. By jumping a stroke on the next green she gained her halve and won by 2 up to 1 to play.

One encouraging feature of the day from the American standpoint was the good golf played by Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck against Mrs. S. C. O'Brien of Chicago. The Philadelphia was out in 41 and was 7 up on her opponent at that point. Coming in she did not quite so well and Mrs. O'Brien out down the lead and Mrs. Vanderbeck winning by 4 up and 3 to play. If the golf played by Mrs. Vanderbeck was something more than a dash of good form she may make things interesting for Miss Dodd to-morrow.

Just as she surprised every one yesterday by defeating Miss Kate Harley, Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield created more of the same feeling to-day, when she put up a strong fight against Miss Harrison Curtis. The former champion was carried off all of the way to the seventeenth green, where she won by 3 up and 1 to play.

Another contest that went seventeen holes was that between Miss Fanny Osgood and the Western champion, Miss Myra Helmer of Middletown. The Chicago girl played like a winner for a while and was 3 up at the fifth. Then Miss Osgood, who is essentially a steady player, began to creep up and soon was on even terms. She finally won by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mrs. Pitter, though she lost the first hole to Miss Arthur, of New York, quickly won Mr. Back and then lost to Miss Pitter, and the match ended four holes away from home with the Philadelphia 5 up.

The eight survivors begin the third round at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, with the chances of a British victory looking up larger than ever.